Viral Words – playwriting project

Description:

This project aims to bring writers together online to collaborate in the creation of a stage work. Young people sign up to take part. The playwriting group will be on Google Drive and in a Facebook private group, open to members to add to the work at any time. The 'secret' Facebook group will be where the members can share comments on drafts, ideas for progression, discussion on format and themes, and so on. The final creation will be a play written collaboratively by the members of the group and facilitated by Peter Hussey.

How to take part:

1. Send an email expressing your interest to take part to KildareYouthTheatre@gmail.com with the subject line Viral Words Playwriting Project before Sunday 22nd March.
2. Make sure you have a Facebook account so that you can be added to the group
3. Peter will set up the 'secret' Facebook Group and add those who emailed.
4. There you will find the guidelines for taking part, suggestions about beginnings, and ideas for collaboration.
5. Start writing.

Guidelines for participants (including ethical things to be aware of):

Guidelines will be discussed and agreed together in the Facebook group.
Depending on the age of participants we may decide to have two or more collaborative groups divided by age.

Timeline:

Register your interest by email before Sunday 22nd March
First draft of the work-in-progress will be Sunday, 5th April
We aim to have the finished work by the end of April. It will be shared online in the Reading Room of our website.

Who can take part?

Any registered member of Kildare Youth Theatre aged 11 or over.
